MACKINAW MAKERS SEE LITTLE WOOL

Expect Most Will Be Taken by U. S.—Daylight Saving Extension Urged.

CHICAGO, May 15.—When the Government has completely filled its needs for woolen clothing, there will be very little clothing of this kind left for civilian use, with the result that mackinaws and other heavy clothes will be practically eliminated, according to the members of the mackinaw division of the National Association of Garment Manufacturers to-day.

The Government was urged not to make prices on contracts so low that manufacturers would have to increase the price of garments to prevent a loss. This, it was stated, would have a harmful effect that it would be practically impossible after the war to compete with European countries because of our high cost of production.

A proposal that the daylight saving scheme be urged as a year round measure was made, and the matter was referred to a committee.

The association pledged itself to raise $20,000 for the maintenance of a war service committee with authority to represent with the National Association of Garment Manufacturers.

Five hundred and sixty-three overall manufacturers, members of the association, signed their willingness to turn over their factories for Government use.

U. S. Investigates Woolen Mills.

Refusal of Julius Forstmann of the Forstmann & Hufmann Co., one of the largest Passaic woolen plants, to flow examination of trade information by books by Government agents, brought a hearing before Federal officials here regarding the company to an abrupt end yesterday.

The Government is to take legal steps to gain access to the books before going on with the investigation.

Wool Trade Gets Nothing Official.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

Boston, May 15.—At today's general meeting of the local wool trade, at which it was expected the details of the Government wool control scheme would be forthcoming. The features of the plan, as previously outlined on May 2, were reviewed by President Koshland of the Wool Trade Association.

Unofficially, it was said by Mr. Koshland, that the War Industries Board would not consent to increase the commodity rates for wool. The first announced were fixed at 2 percent for ungraded wool and 3 1/2 percent for graded wool.

Mr. Koshland also said the Government was likely to name other concentration points than Boston for collecting the wools and that the supplies to be stored in Boston this season would probably be smaller than had been the case for many years.

More Demands for Shorter Hours.

Speculation whether the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union will demand the shorter trade in the clothing workers of America and demand a forty-four hour week is current here.

The latter organization at their convention now in Baltimore are said to be considering demanding a shortening of hours, and it is believed likely the kindred order will take similar steps. The convention to be held in Boston next week.

Drugs Higher.

Higher primary markets for numerous crude materials and scarcity of local stocks have resulted in a rise in the prices of many drugs and chemicals. Government buying kept the market fairly well cleaned of stocks. Drug and Chemical Markets will say to-day in its weekly summary.

"Prices are expected to go even higher with the advances in freight rates," the statement will continue.

Narcotics closed easy, with prices trending downward in part to larger arrivals of the crude material. Price fluctuations have been narrow and mostly upward. The only development of importance will be the decline of $1 a pound in thymol. Essential oils, natural mustard and neroli bidders scored sharp gains.

Narcotics, unscathed. Seeds, herbs and leaves have been traded in more freely, resulting in higher markets for mustard seeds, with prospects of higher levels for cumin and coriander seed.

Cotton and Coal Men to Meet.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

Boston, May 15.—Everett Morris will represent the priorities committee of the War Industries Board at the conference called for Thursday by President Shore of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers.

All the Government agencies controlling the distribution of cotton will be represented. J. H. Hustis will represent A. H. Smith, regional coal director of railways. James J. Storow, Fuel Administrator of New England, will represent the National Fuel Administration.

C. S. Selects Heilbrunner.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Louis Heilbrunner of Weber & Heilbrunner has been appointed by Chief Louis Tim of the Light Goods Manufacturing section as a sub-division head of the procurement department.

U. S. Calls Strikers to Work.

General satisfaction at the Government's prompt action in settling the strike of the Textile Planters Union was expressed in manufacturing circles yesterday. The calling off of the strike was the result of Federal notification to the strikers that Government work in the cloth spinning plants must be no longer delayed.

The workers demanded a $6 a week increase in pay. They went back to work at a $2 increase pending negotiations regarding their larger claims.

Shoe Going Higher.

Another advance in shoe prices because of the height to which hides are climbing, according to the weekly statement of McKelvin, Morse & Rogers, sent out by Ben Jacobson, manager. The statement says that hides went up to seven cents a pound last week, bringing their price close to that recommended by the Government.

"Organizers still have a big run this fall, large orders for their already coming in indicate their popularity," the statement continues. "There is an exceedingly large number of requests from

Leather Men Foresee Federal Control Soon

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

OSTON, May 15.—Interest of shoe manufacturers centers on the fixing of maximum prices of leather by the Government. They realize that such action is not to long delayed.

The demand for nearly all lines of shoes is larger than manufacturers can at present take care of. The shoe and leather reporter will say in its weekly statement tomorrow, shoe clothes for topping and linings are becoming scarce, and it is doubtful if stocks can be replenished during the season.

"Successful bidders on the army shoe contracts are active buyers of sole and upper leather, but civilian trade, though steady, is not as active as a woolen shoe leather which was offered tentatively to the British Purchasing Agent has been sold for domestic consumption."

Will Prevent Discrimination.

The War Service Board of the clothing industry, under instructions from Washington, is working on plans to prevent discrimination in price against the manufacture of more organizations have been devoted to the production of cheap civilian clothing when they and the manufacturers of higher grade clothing have both been on to make uniforms for the Government.

English Tailors Combine.

Master tailors of Liverpool, England, have combined to run a great workshop on commercial lines. Shortage of labor brought about the arrangement, which, however, is likely to continue after the war.

Shoe Buttons Scarce.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—Ocean pearl buttons for women's and children's shoes are becoming so scarce that shoe men are finding it necessary to substitute a button made from a fresh water shell.

The latter are about 20 percent cheaper.

Wool Climbing to Start.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

CHICAGO, May 15.—Wool experts from the West, who have been here by Washington to help in valuing Chicago wools, are expected in the local market today and it is likely that immediately after their arrival the classifying of the wools will begin.

Piece Workers Strike.

Failure to agree on prices to be paid piece workers has resulted in the Joint Board of the Clothing Workers Union calling a strike of its members in the plants of R. Sadowsky, large cloak and suit manufacturer.

Unofficially, it was said by Mr. Koshland, that the War Industries Board would not consent to increase the commodity rates for wool. The first announced were fixed at 2 percent for ungraded wool and 3 1/2 percent for graded wool.

Mr. Koshland also said the Government was likely to name other concentration points than Boston for collecting the wools and that the supplies to be stored in Boston this season would probably be smaller than had been the case for many years.

Woolen Goods Exchange Kicks.

At the annual meeting of the Woolen Goods Exchange yesterday the following officers were elected:

President, Nathaniel Stevens, president of M. T. Stevens & Sons Company, New York; and vice president, C. W. Stafford, president of the Cleveland Worsted Mills Company, Cleveland, Ohio, re-elected; executive committee, J. H. Hustis, regional coal director of railways, James J. Storow, Fuel Administrator of New England, will represent the National Fuel Administration.

Hoboes Change to Workers.

Hoboes are no longer hoboes, as Ellis Parkes Butler might say. They are now workmen.

At least this is true so far as Philadelphia is concerned, and it is a labor leader and not the war or the anti-labor ordinances, who is supposed to be responsible for the change.

The labor leader was in New York yesterday buying up all the workingmen's suits from the clothing manufacturers. He explained that they were for use in a strikers' parade in Philadelphia to-day, but he did not say why the strikers were not suitably outfitted without the suits.

Some one suggested that perhaps the labor union was planning to pad the pockets of the real strikers with the recruited labor on occasion, and dressed in the "workingmen's shirts."

But who ever heard of a labor union doing anything like that?

Knit Goods Makers Meet.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

UTICA, May 15.—The Knit Goods Manufacturers of America at their meeting here to-day rejected Becher McCrouse's proposal, and also rejected all other offers.

Wool Importers Get Rebate.

Boston, May 14.—The Textile Association, which supervises the importation of wool by Government authority, to-day announced a distribution to dealers of 40 percent on commissions and fees paid in during the year ended April 1.

The rebates of A. M. Patterson, president of the alliance, was also announced.

Little Wool for Civilian Use.

Boston, May 15.—The American Wool and Cotton Reporter will say to-morrow:

"No wool is becoming available for ordinary production, and this fact together with official estimates indicates that the supply of wool for civilian purposes on certain varieties of goods."

"On some kinds of fabrics there may not be any wool at all available for their production. The fact that the Government is willing to trading in nolls and wools to be resumed is encouraging to the dealers in these commodities. Trading is resumed at prices not exceeding the maximum which was established last fall."

The cotton market is influenced more by war and weather. Fear of price fixing has put a damper on any big bull movements. It is expected prices will range at about the present levels until the cotton market is settled, at which case they will probably advance quickly.

"It is generally believed now that the market is overbought and that the South with its special supplies has overvalued the market. The labor situation will be a large factor, it is expected, affecting both consumption and production."
